www.TOMandCHIP.com

SITUATION: Tom misses his ball on the first tee ...

QUESTION: Does it count as a stroke if the ball remains in the teeing area? And is Tom allowed to tee the ball up again?

ANSWER: Every swing at the ball with the intention of striking it counts as a stroke. Because the ball's still lying within the teeing area, Tom may place it on the tee again or even tee it up in a different place within the teeing area. Rule 6.2b(6) and definition "Stroke."
